The Fifty-sixth Annual Meeting of the New-

The Fifty-sixth Annual Meeting of the New-York Female Assistance Society was held yesterday, in the Church, cerner of Fifth-ave, and Twenty-minth-st. The Society, which was well represented, was addressed by the Rev. Mr. Ridgeway, who congratulated the ladies on their work. He said as a pastor he felt that their sphere of dury was coordinate with his own. The Society was quietly reaching the real cases of want and distress, just as surely as if there was a parade and ostentation of relief. He instanced the case of Boaz and Ruth, and said that the conduct of Boaz was an example of the right kind of charity. He continued speaking in enlogy of the way in which the Society accomplished its work, saying that the whole tenor of Scripture teaches that there is as great virtue in the manner of distributing alms as in the act of benevolence. The annual report was read, and showed the receipts amounted to over 17,000. After the report was read the annual election took place. Mrs. Alfred S. Pardy was elected First Directress, Mrs. S. Cochran, Treasurer; Mrs. M. Mitchell, Secretary, and 28 Managers were also appointed. The meeting then sdjourned.

DESPERATE FIGHT IN ELIZABETH.

A LIQUOR SALOON ALMOST DEMOLISHED-TWO MEN PROBABLY FATALLY WOUNDED.

A desperate fight occurred in a saloon in Portave, Elizabeth, yesterday, at about 2 o'clock, in which two men received probably fatal injuries. Officer Darcy was called from his beat by cries of "murder," and, or running toward the spot from whence the cries proeeded, he met a party, consisting of James Manning, John Forrester, Jeremiah Mahoney, and their wives, who stated that they had been assaulted and beaten in a saloon kept by Patrick O'Rourke. Mahoney was badly hurt, and was assisted to walk toward his home by his friends. He was literally covered with blood, and his face was frightfully bruised and swoolen. These people were taken in charge, and Dr. Martin of Elizabethport was sent for to dress their wounds. A squad of police was seet to the saloon where the disturbance took place, but found no immales. The building was battered and partially torn down; the windows were smashed and the furniture was broken into splinters. A number of men were in the neighborhood, and told the efficers where O'Rourke was, and that he had been removed to the house of a friend in an unconscious state, suffering from a terrible wound on his head. The men were arrested, and every person who was concerned in the disturbance was taken into custody. At the examination before Justice Egan, yesterday afternoon, it appeared that those who were found in company with Mahoney came to O'Rourke's house under the impression that a wedding was to take place there. After obtaining a good supply of inquor they attacked O'Rourke because he would not give them more. A general fight ensued, in which about 20 men and women took part, and in which stones and knives were used with effect, and upon Mahoney and O'Rourke in particular, aithough rearly every participant in the row was a sufferer. The burt, and was assisted to walk toward his home by his in which stones and kines were need not all though upon Mahoney and O'Rourke in particular, although nearly every participant in the row was a sufferer. The examination resulted in the commitment of Mahoney, Manuing, and Forrester, O'Rourke's injuries are of a very serious character, and his recovery is considered loubtful.

HINDOO VISITORS.

THEIR OBJECT IN COMING, AND PROJECTS FOR THE FUTURE-OPPORTUNITY FOR AMERICAN

ENTERPRISE. The coming of two Hindoo travelers to New-York is a circumstance of importance, since it is no caused by any idle curiosity of travel, but by the carnest attempt of the great Indian erecipe to actability communion with us. Hitherto the trade of that wealthy country has been completely in the grasp of England, so that there is but one American house, that of Messrs. Bastow & Co. of Bombay, trading directly. Messrs. Moolite Thackersey, and Toolsidass Jadavju express the greatest astonishment that a people so enteprising as the American should have traded entirely with Hindu merchants through English channels, since in all the large cities of India the American name is known and respected, and the "flower flag," as the Hindoos name the Stars and Stripes, is accorded unusual welcome. And it is to explain this and to open the way for future direct commerce, that these gentlemen have visited our shores. They are both merchants well known the European communities established in India. They arrived in Englaud well fornished with letters of introduction from the principal merchants of Bombay, surveyed the chief object of interest in that country and then embarked for America, their ultimate destination. During their stay in the Fifth Avenne Hotel they have visited at least 50 of our leading merchants, to whom they had letters, and have created much astonishment by their casy manners, and perfection of English. Both are clothed in European style with the exception of handsome Turkish caps, from which circumstance has arisen the impression that they are Turks. The younger, Toolsidass, is about 24 years of age, and a perfect English linguist. He is a Brahmin, that is, of the priestly caste, who are forbidden to cat anything that has breathed the breath of life, to touch anything polluted by the hands of an inferior caste, or even by the shadow of a passing man, to drink any water that has not been drawn in their own vessels. Consequently he has lost his caste, and on bla received. the European communities established in India.

breath of life, to touch anything poliuted by the hands of an inferior caste, or even by the shadow of a passing man, to drink any water that has not been drawn in their own vessels. Consequently he has lost his caste, and on his return will be an outcast from among his Brahminical brothren. But as the Brahmins are now dispised by everybody, and Toolsidass is wealthy and received on terms of perfect equality by the English, this will be a matter of little consequence to him.

§ Moolje Thackersey the cider, who, by a misapprehension, was styled a Parsi, is of the Banian or merchant caste. The Hindoo faith is also very strict with these, and this gentleman has also, by his travels eating forbidden food, and especially beef, the flesh of the sacred animal, put himself out of the pale of the lindoo religion. The Banyans are principally worshipers of Shira, but they are highly esteemed, are very wealthy, and form the bulk of the Hindoo money-lenders, though the Parsis dabble also in that business. Their influence is great, since there is hardly a village throughout the Bombay presidency where the ryots are not indebted to some wealthy Banian money-lender who holds a lien upon the growing crops.

These gentlemen say that the interest felt in American affairs in India is very great, and they instance that at the death of President Lincoln there was scarcely a newspaper printed in the three principal dialects of Hindoostani, Devanaguri, and Gujrati, when did not, equally with the English, publish an account of his assassination, with short memoirs of his life. American affairs are curiously scrutinized in India, and these subtle men, feeling the weakening of the English hand, and dialiking the strong probability of Russan ascendency, are actually looking forward to American interference and help. They certainly propose to enter into business relations if they find it possible, and will visit the cotton-growing districts of the South to inspect the growth of the elebrated Sea Island and long staples, and possibly to tak artists. The rooms to be used as schools of art will comprise a number of well-lighted and spacious balls, with ample accommodations for classes in drawing and painting. The ground floor of the building will probably be let to banking and insurance companies for offices. The principal entrance will be at the north end of the building, and the main stairway from the vestibule will ran up the entire length of the building. It is to be built of hard wood, and will be lined with brick and stone mosaic work. The work of excavating for the foundation will probably be done this year, and the Association hope to have the building finished in time for the reception in the Winter of 1870. The cost will exceed $100,000.

A NAVAL EXPEDITION.

A RUMOR THAT SAMANA IS THE DESTINATION. It has been evident for some time past that an expedition was fitting out at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, yet inquiry in the ordinary channels failed to throw any light upon it, and the officials to a man declined to give a clue to the mystery. The first proof of the anxiety of the Navy Department to basten the departure of the expedition was the undocking of the United States steamship Albany before her screw propeller had been shifted, as was intended. Next, she was started away on a Friday, but was in collision in the river, receiving some damage to her spars. To make her ready for sea the Navy-Yard workmen labered by night as well as by day, and also on the Sabbath. She then waited in the stream until Yard workmen labored by hight as well as it as also on the Sabbath. She then waited in the stream until the store tender arrived from Washington, which without reporting to the Yard authorities, went altograded and we have beformation to the effect that she put on board the Albany several hundred tuns of ordnance stores, large and small field pieces, rifles, powder, shot, stores, large and small field pieces, rifles, powder, shot, stores, large and small field pieces, rifles, powder, shot, stores, large and small field pieces, rifles, powder, shot, stores, large and small field pieces, rifles, powder, shot, stores, large and small field pieces, rifles, powder, shot, pieted her loading, bound for St. Domingo, West indiges, and it is said she will stop en route at the Tortugas that embark a number of U.S. Regulars, The time occapied in the cail at Tortugas will enable the U.S. Ship', Severn, Flag Ship of Admiral Poor; Swatara, and Ne, atucket, to join her at St. Domingo, as the latter vessels because of the fact that all of them within the past few hours have received scaled orders. An impression, perhaps, entitled to some weight, gains groups, that this naval expedition goes to St. Domingo for the purpose of taking possession of Samana, and that the troops are to maintain the ground while the war vessels will cover them against all attacks. While the destination is only matter of conjecture, Samana will no doubt answer as well as any other.

THE REV. FATHER M'MAHON.

IHS EXPERIENCE IN CANADA AS A SENTENCED FENIAN.

Last evening the large hall in Cooper Institute was crowded by the friends of Ireland to listen to a statement of the Rev. Father McMahon, whom the public will remember as the Catholic Priest who accompanied as chaplain the expedition of Gen. O'Neal to Canada, and was captured and imprisoned by the Canadian authorities. In the absence of Mayor Hall, who had been expected to preside, Col. Roberts called the meeting to order, and in a few words announced the object of the gathering. While Col. Roberts was speaking Mayor Hall appeared on the platform, and was received with loud applause. He excused himself for being late, stating that his carriage had broken down on the way; made a few remarks, expressing his gratification at his reception, and introduced the reverend father. As the latter gentleman stepped to the front of the platform the hall resounded with loud and repeated applause, which lasted for several minutes. His outward appearance gave proof of severe mental and bodily suffering, his gave proof of severe mental and bodily suffering, his voice was so feeble that it could scarcely be heard in the middle of the hall. He spoke only a few words, saying that he had written out a statement of his sufferings, and that it was at the same time a discussion of Canadian justice, as practiced by English officials on American citizens; that it would be read by Mr. Daly. That gentleman read from the manuscript a tale of wee. Afterbeing taken prisoner and nominally tried on charges for which, according to his statement, no grounds existed, the reverend fasher was sentenced to death by hunging, but before the time of execution he was reprieved, and the sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life. This imprisonment the father describes as a slow torture. Starvation, neglect, vermin, and cold baths in the middle of Winterwere to be the means of accomplishing his death. However, with God's help, he had been liberated, and was this evening on the platform, not to speak in his own behalf, but in behalf of the twenty-two prisoners whom he had left behind in Canadian prisons. Another round of applianse greeted the statement that what he had suffered once he was ready to suffer again in the same cause, and loud hisses were repeatedly heard at the mention of England and its tyrannical sway. Horace Greeley, who, with many other gentlemen, was sitting on the platform, was loudly cheered and called for. Coming forward, he said he wished to remind those present that he had taken part in the movement for the freedom of ireland in isse; that he still hoped for the freedom of that country; that his only regret was the warnglings and disputes of Irishmen among themselves; that he trusted and expected that the friends of Ireland hereafter would act united, as union is strength, and if such was the case there was a hope that ere long an Irish Parliament would see to Irish rights, or that at least the English Parliament would see to Irish rights, or that at least the English Parliament would see to Irish rights, or that at voice was so feeble that it could scarcely be heard in the address protested loudly against the wrongs done to hindre. The Man Platis of Wenderly 2. The Hou. Wh. Y. Robinson of Brooklyn was the next speaker, and several other gentlemen, among whom were some Catholic elergymen, made short addresses. There were over 5,000 persons in the hall, and the general expression of sympathy must have been highly flattering to Father McMahon, while it certainly gave proof of the deep feeling of patriotism among his countrymen.

A committee of one from each shop was also appointed to collect the names of men employed in the different shops. The men claim that there are many abuses connected with the trade, one of which is the employment of a large number of boys and girls in the place of practical workmen, thereby depriving experienced workmen of employment. Wages are also very low, the best workmen receiving but $23 to $25 per week. The number of men employed in this city and Brooklyn is about 500.

The land is very sparsely settled. The speaker then alluded to the climate. He said that on the strip bordering on the ocean about 60 inches of rain falis during the year. The winds are from the south, and, coming over such a vast extent of water as the Pacific Ocean, are mild and pleasant. Snow does not generally fall more than once during the Winter, and does not remain longer than ten days. The nights are cool throughout the Summer. The seasons are divided into wet and dy. During the rainy season, whole vaileys become submerzed. The floods in the Frazier and Columbia Rivers are generally occasioned by the melting of snow upon the mountains. The fall of these rivers has not been determined in the different parts of their courses. In conclusion, the speaker said that less than ten years ago, there was not a white man's habitation in Washington or Idaho Territories, while now they are prosperous with large numbers of towns and with growing populations. On motion, a vote of thanks was given Mr. Gibbs for his entertaining paper. parallel there is a series of ranges extending from the

WORKING WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION. This valuable organization met last evening at Plimpton Hall, two members being present. A facther attendance of some 50 disinterested outsiders filled the benches. Nobody seeming to know what to do they eat in gloomy silence for half an hour when Mr. Barry opened the meeting and introduced Mrs. Norton who discoursed of the rag-pickers of the city. She opened with allusions to Egyptica stonework, Sartor Resurtus, the Alps, Andes and Suez. She said that there were 4,000 tuns of animal food used up in New-York weekly. The fair speaker advocated the use of sewerage filth as a fer infer. She termed the rap-pickers nondescript it and of people, and said they were quick of comprehension, shrewd and observant, philosophical and reflective. She gave the statistics of Cat Alley and Gothain Court, where there were seven people in every room and bedroom, who took boarders at that. She described them as a cleanly population, which lived exclusively on filth. They send their children to school with commendable regularity. The members of the fraternity make about $10 weekly. There were 1,200 of these people in the city. She had never, in her researches, found a native-born American among them. She didn't feel she was paying her countrymen a compliment in saying this, for many of them preferred to steal or sponge rather than perform the honest labor of the rag-picker. Before the close of the meeting Miss Anthony appeared, and requested all members of the Association to remain and talk business, which they did. A collection was taken to pay the expenses of the meeting, amounting to $10. The result was $3 and some cents. The fair speaker advocated the use of sewerage filth as

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT DEDICATION.

The public ceremony of unvailing the soldiers onument took place at Fairmount Cemetery, Newark, N. J., yesterday afternoon. The monument is of granite, N. J., yesterday afterneon. The monument is of grainte, 42 feet high, and weighs 35 tuns. On the pediment is the inscription: "This monument is creeted by the City of Newark, in memory of the soldiers who are buried here," and above the arms of the City of Newark. On the first section of the shaft there is a group of flags and a stand of arms. The cap of this section bears the badges of nine corps, and the word: "Petersburg." On the four sides of the cap of the second section the words: Atlanta, Mobile Bay, Gettysburg, Antietam. Badges of three corps and the words "The Wilderness" are upon the cap of the third section. The shaft is surmounted by the figure of an infantry soldier in Winter uniform, and leaning upon his rifle. A walk several feet in width leads from the entrance of the cemetry to the morument. At the four angles of the base cannon are to be placed, the whole to be inclosed by a chain fence. The total cost of the memorial is $6,000. The ceremonies yesterday were most imposing, and were participated in by the National Guard, the Mayor and Common Council of Newark, the civic societies, veterans of the late war, the Fire Department, and a number of distinguished citizens from all parts of New-Jersey. On behalf of the Erection Committee Orson Wilson, its chairman, presented the monument to the City of Newark. Mayor Peddie accepted the memorial in the name of the city, after which ex-Leati.-Gov. Woodford of New-York delivered an eloquent address. When the address was finished, a letter of regret at his inability to be present at the ceremonial was read from Goy. Randolph, after which the large assemblage retired from the cementery. 42 feet high, and weighs 35 tuns. On the pediment is the ANNIVERSARY OF THE ACADEMY OF MEDICINE. The twenty-second anniversary meeting of the New-York Academy of Medicine was held last even ing at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, corner of Fourth-ave, and Twenty-third-st. The lecture-room was well filled with academicians and other medical gentlemen, who listened with much attention and frequent ap plause to an excellent, but somewhat rambling, anniver, sary address delivered by Gouverneur M. Smith, M. D., who alluded to the Academy as "an institution not only dear to our hearts, and held in high esteem by this community, but regarded by kindred societies at home and abroad as a prominent exponent of American medical science." Of the thirteen Fellows who have presided over it since its inception in 1846, nine have been gathered to their fathers; and it is a noteworthy fact, strongly disproving the frequent assertion that medical science tends to materialism and infidelity, that they all died rejoicing in Christian faith and hope. Since the last anniversary death has also removed from the Academy O'Reilly, Enos, Stevens and Guilford, "men who would have adorned any calling, and of whom the profession has reason to be proud." It might be expected that those whose business is the cure of disease would attain to unusual longevity, but the deaths in this Academy show that they hear no charmed lives, though it is an interceding fact that the average age of its deceased President (872), Feynars. The lecture of the many themes of interest to the medical fraternity. plause to an excellent, but somewhat rambling, anniver.

The regular monthly meeting of the Medico-Legal Society was held last evening at the College of Twenty third st. Dr. Finnell exhibited the heart of a woman, lately deceased, that was a complete mass of fatty substance. The muscular fibers of the heart had entirely disappeared, thereby interfering with the healthy action of that organ. The woman died from over-excitement at a religious meeting, but any other unusual occurrence might have had the same effect. Dr. Royers said that if the woman had been turned with her head down, it would in all probability have saved her life. The legal interest centering in this case lay in its being so similar to the frequent cases of mysterious death arising from slight assoults and slighter injuries, and in most of these cases death would be proved to have taken place, not so much from violence, as from heart disease. Wim Schrady read a paper on "The Law in reference to Saicide and Intemperance in Life Insurance." It was hardly more than a clining of the English and American cases on the subject. The English cases did not agree with some of the New-York cases and Massachusetts decisions, the English Courts giving a much more strict interpretation to the clauses of the insurance policy than the American tribunals appear to do. In a case in the New-York Courts turning on the point of accident or suicide, the Court overruled questions in regard to the Atheistic tendency of the deceased, the Company having attempted to prove suicide on that ground. woman, lately deceased, that was a complete mass of

EXPLOSION OF A GRINDSTONE-TWO MEN IN-

JURED. Information was given at the office of the County Physician of Essex County yesterday relating to a serious accident to two men which occurred at Heller's file-grinding shop in the upper part of Market-st. Newark, on Tuesday last. At 4 p. m. of that day a grind stone six feet in diameter and weighing about two tur-ind a haif, exploded with a loud report, the fragment adms thrown in every direction—through the roof an and a haif, exploded with a loud report, the fragments being thrown in every direction—through the roof and through the sides of the building. A piece weighing 400 pounds was thrown through a twelve-inch brick wall ten feet from the spot where the grindstone was placed, and another piece, in its assent through the roof, broke a heavy beam. Mr. P. H. Vroom, a carriage manufacturer, was in the story above, and was thrown out of the building, landing upon a pile of boards. Heinrich Vorst, a German grinder, in the employ of Mr. Heller, was sitting on a seat above the stone when the explosion took place, and received a shock as he was dashed aside, which, it is feared, will result fatally. The facts of this case were not reported by the owner of the establishment nor by any other person until the condition of Mr. Vroom and of the workman Vorst became alarming.

NAVAL ITEMS.

SEVEN PER CENT GOLD BONDS

DANVILLE, URBANA, BLOOMINGTON AND PEKIN RAILROAD COMPANY OF ILLINOIS.

Principal and interest payable in gold at the Farme ers' Loan and Trust Company, New-York. Coupons payable April and October 1.

FREE OF GOVERNMENT TAX. LENGTH OF ROAD 117 5-100 MILES,

CAPITAL STOCK 82,000,600. TOTAL ISSUE OF BONDS $2,600,000. The bonds are limited to less than $18,000 per miles and are secured by a First Mortgage on the entire property of the Company, which cost about $40,060 per miles and which, we can say with the utmost confidence, will be worth soon after the completion of the read at least double its cost. The consolidation of this line with the Indianapolis, Crawfordsville and Dana ville Road places over two hundred miles under one management, and furnishes still further security to the bondholders, these bonds having been assumed (a virtual guarantee) by the consolidated company under the name of the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railroad Company. This is an east and west road, connecting with direct lines to Boston, New-York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore on the east, and with the Pacific Roads on the west. It runs through the richest and most populous district of Illinois, the local business of which will be more than sufficient to sustain it, while the through business (which will be limited only by the capacity of the road) must make it one of the best paying railways in the country. The greater part of the road is now finished, and the bala ance will be completed and thoroughly equipped by the first of January next.

Over two-thirds of the loan has been taken by actual investors. We continue to offer, for the present, the balance at 95 and accrued interest in currency, at which price they pay about 10 per cent interest in currency-50 per cent more than Governments The high premium which the stock of all the East and West roads in Illinois commands justifies the belief that the stock of this road will also soon sell above par, thus making the convertible clause of the bond a valuable option. These bonds may be registered, if desired. All marketable securities received in exchange at the highest market rates. Bonds forwarded by express free of charge. Pamphlets containing full particulars furnished on application by the undersigned financial agents of the Company. TURNER BROTHERS,
